Yes, we can!

The Arts Council launched the public phase of its Capital Campaign for a new community Arts Education Center with a September 30 celebration at the Gettysburg Hotel. Senator Richard Alloway (center) presented a check for $200,000 to ACAC president Holly Purdy, campaign co-chair Phillip Murray, secretary Stuart Kravits, and treasurer Darlene Brown.

In February, with the leadership of Phillip Murray and William P. Monahan and a dedicated Capital Campaign Committee, the Arts Council began the "quiet phase" of a $1.1 million Capital Campaign. Pictured above are committee members Mel Shull, Advisor Nancy E. Petrisco, Sue Williams, Darlene Brown, co-chair Phillip Murray, Executive Director Chris Glatfelter, Megan Weikel, Jean LeGros, Sharon DeOms Geleta, Paul Ketterman, and Stuart Kravits. Not pictured are co-chair William P. Monahan, Norris Flowers, Jennfier LeVan, Holly Purdy, and Jim Sixeas.

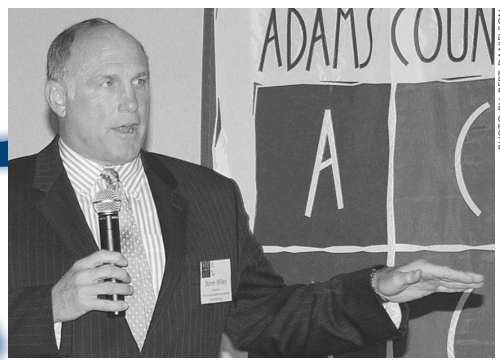

3 Get ready to "Come as you aren't!"

5 You definitely need one of these.

7 Add music, art, and drama to your life.

Steven B. Wiley, President of the Lincoln Leadership Institute at Gettysburg, introduced guest speaker Dr. Charles E. Glassick.

Former president of the Woodruff Arts Center in Atlanta and President Emeritus of Gettysburg College Dr. Charles E. Glassick, pictured here with his wife, Lois, reminded us of the importance of the arts in our culture and daily lives.

ACAC is a 501(c)(3) non-profit charitable organization; contributions are tax-deductible as allowed by law. Official registration and financial information may be obtained from the Pennsylvania Department of State by calling toll-free within Pennsylvania 1 (800) 732-0999. Registration does not imply endorsement. The mission of the Adams County Arts Council is to cultivate an arts-rich community. Board members are Holly Purdy, President; Wendy Heiges and Judie Butterfield, Co-Vice Presidents; Darlene Brown, Treasurer; Stuart Kravits, Secretary; Brenda McCabe, Recording Secretary; Linda Atiyeh, Judie Butterfield, Louise Garverick, Maggie Gladson, Jennifer LeVan, Leonard Loski, Phillip Murray, Larry Musselman, and Kate Rice. Christina Glatfelter, Executive Director; Dan Zalewski, Development Director; Judy Marti, Arts in Education Coordinator; Nora Ivey, Office Manager; Peggy Talbot, Administrative Assistant. Our office is open Monday through Friday, 9 to 5.

Partial funding for expressions is provided by the Pennsylvania Partners in the Arts (PPA), the regional arts funding partnership of the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts, a state agency. State government funding comes through an annual appropriation by the Pennsylvania General Assembly and from the National Endowment for the Arts, a federal agency. PPA is administered in this region by the Chambersburg Area Council for the Arts.

One for the books

What a night! On September 30, we went public with the Capital Campaign for our new community Arts Education Center. Campaign co-chair and hotel manager Phillip Murray pulled out all the stops and donated a fabulous reception at the Gettysburg Hotel for 200 enthusiastic Arts Council supporters who enjoyed food, drink, music, and speakers who reminded us what the arts are all about.

Motivational speaker Steven B. Wiley warmed up the room for his father-in-law, Dr. Charles Glassick, former president of the Woodruff Arts Center and President Emeritus of Gettysburg College. Dr. Glassick inspired us with his reflections on a lifelong passion for the arts. Senator Richard Alloway characterized the Arts Education Center as an anchor facility that will help revitalize Gettysburg's Elm Street District and provide after school arts programs for at-risk students. Adams Electric Cooperative's Duane Kanagy talked about his company's long association with the Arts Council and how the arts are good for business. Steve Niebler, director of the Adams County Office for Aging, explained how the center will serve senior citizens. Phil Murray and Arts Council president Holly Purdy unveiled our progress "thermometer" showing that we've raised $621,111 toward our $1.1 million goal.

We're so grateful to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Senator Alloway, the Margaret Trew Cline Foundation, the Thomas L. Cline Foundation, the Robert C. Hoffman Charitable Endowment Trust, and the Adams County Commissioners for major gifts and to the generous donors who have helped us reach this milestone.

I also announced that the Hoffman Trust had issued a challenge, a $25,000 "dollar-for-dollar" match when we raised that amount in new donations. I can't fully express my gratitude for what happened next: People lined up to make gifts and pledges totaling more than $32,000!

We celebrated a remarkable achievement that night. But we have a long way to go to reach $1.1 million. We'll need the help of every Arts Council member to reach our goal. Recently you received a mailer asking for your support. Please respond with a gift that's meaningful to you. Without doubt, your gift will mean even more to the children and adults that we will serve in our new Arts Education Center.

Thank you for your membership in the Adams County Arts Council.

Bringing the arts into action

Events subcommittee members Jennifer Statuto, Mel Shull, and Louise Garverick coordinated our kickoff event. Thanks to Louise and teachers throughout the county, every high school contributed to the evening with creative floral sculptures and musical ensembles—evidence of the positive influence of the arts on community life.

Be a celebrity when we welcome you to Hollywood for our 2010 Masquerade Party, presented in partnership with CenturyLink, on Saturday, November 6, 8 p.m., at the historic Gettysburg Hotel.

Come as you aren't

Don't miss our eleventh annual Masquerade Party on Saturday, November 6, starting at 8 p.m. Last year these lovely ladies had partiers seeing double.

Start the evening in style with refreshments and canapés, Silent Auction preview, and tantalizing dinner with wine. Then proceed to your reserved seat in the Ballroom. Reception/Dinner/Reserved Seat tickets are $75 per person. Party-only tickets are $300 for a table of 10, $35 for a reserved seat, or $25 for general admission. Tickets are available online at adamsarts.org, by calling (717) 334-5006, or at the door.

We appreciate the support of our major sponsors—L&H Mechanical & Electrical Services, 3rd Idea, and Battlefield Harley-Davidson—and all Party sponsors (listed on page 4). ☺

Turn purchases into donations!

Now you can support the Arts Council every time you buy groceries, gas, clothes, gifts—just about anything!—through our new partnership with the Great Lakes Scrip Center. With the holidays fast approaching, this program can yield a good return for our organization if you'll take a few moments to participate.

It's simple. Purchase prepaid gift or merchandise cards from nearly 1,700 businesses locally and nationwide. We receive a percentage of the value of each card you buy. For example, buy a $25 gift card for Ruby Tuesday, we get $2; a $100 gas card for Sheetz, we get $3; a $250 card for Walmart, and we get $5. National brands offer periodic specials which bring even higher percentages to the Arts Council.

To participate, visit adamsarts.org, download a customized order form, and submit it to our office with your payment. You can also place orders online by going to www.shopwithscrip.com and setting up your family account using the Enrollment Code 84ECA83F261L7. The online ordering process gives you a chance to buy cards for companies throughout the country—cards you can use anywhere, anytime, or as gifts for family and friends.

As part of this program, you can "pay ahead" for everyday items at the same time you make a donation that helps cultivate an arts-rich community. If you have questions or need help with your order, contact Dan Zalewski, Development Director, development@adamsarts.org. ☺

Showhouse project seeking volunteers

Last year we started considering a major new fundraising event—a Designer Showhouse—where designers unleash their imaginations to transform an empty house into a stunning showcase which will be open to the public.

The Arts Council would benefit from this event through sponsorships, ticket sales, and ancillary special events.

This concept has been successful in other parts of the country. We'd like to try it here.

If you'd like to learn more about the project (planned for 2013) and available volunteer opportunities, please contact event chair Brenda McCabe by phone at (717) 337-3568 or by email at bwiley_hh@yahoo.com.

New web site planned

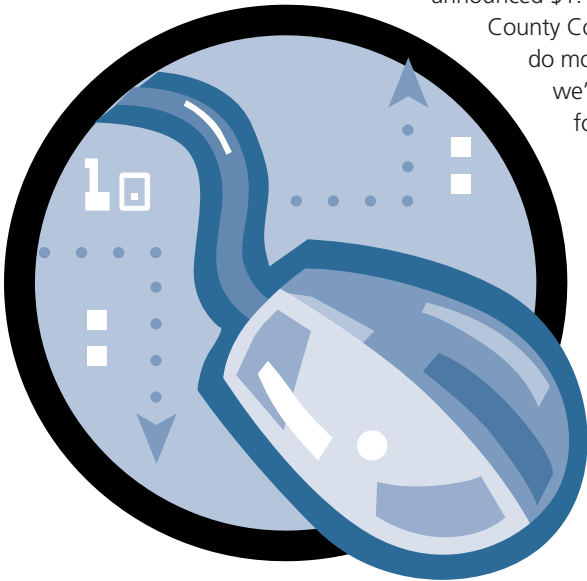

The Arts Council is seeking Requests for Proposal (RFP) from graphic designers and/or web developers for the redesign of our organization website.

Our current site, www.adamsarts.org, was designed in 1998 by high school students as a part of their community service graduation requirement. The site's simplistic design was functional at the time, but advances in technology and social marketing, combined with our organization's growth, have rendered the site obsolete. With our recently announced $1.1 million Capital Campaign to establish the Adams

County Community Arts Education Center, the new website must do more to help us fulfill our mission and reflect the position we've attained over the past 17 years as a leading advocate for the arts in this region.

If you'd like to receive the RFP packet, contact Dan Zalewski, Development Director, at development@adamsarts.org. If you plan to submit a RFP, please send us a nonbinding letter of intent so that we know you are submitting a proposal. Mail your letter to the Adams County Arts Council, 18 Carlisle Street, Suite 201, Gettysburg PA 17325. You may also fax your letter to (717) 338-2041 or email it to development@adamsarts.org.

Letters of intent are due no later than end of business on Friday, November 5, 2010. Final RFP submissions are due no later than Monday, November 15.

Meet our new development director

We're delighted to welcome development director Daniel Zalewski to our staff.

A native Pennsylvanian, Dan grew up in the Wilkes-Barre area and graduated from Misericordia University in Dallas (PA).

In his nearly 20 years of nonprofit, marketing, and development work, Dan has served organizations in Maryland, New York, and Pennsylvania.

Dan lives in Hanover with his wife, Melissa, and four children—Daniel, Zachary, Adam, and Andrew.

Funding for this position was provided through a grant from the Robert C. Hoffman Charitable Endowment Trust.

Are you on our list?

Between newsletters, stay up to date with e-press, our monthly e-newsletter.

To receive e-press, email Peggy Talbot at aa@adamsarts.org. We invite Arts Council members to submit news about upcoming arts events for e-press to Peggy by the 20th of each month.

In memoriam

We gratefully acknowledge a generous gift from Joan Chick in memory of Anne Scott. Anne was a valued member, volunteer, and friend of the Arts Council. She is sadly missed.

Going, going . . .

Thanks to the Gettysburg Times, our "Rack-a-Rama" fundraiser has been a huge success, and it's not over yet!

With coordination by volunteer Janet Hikes, artists Bobbi Becker, Erin Brown, Jim McCabe, Tony Messano, and Sandi Polvinale donated their services and each transformed an orange Times paper rack into a work of art. The racks were distributed across Adams County, and through October 15 the Arts Council's Capital Campaign benefited each time a paper was purchased from one of them.

Now you can own one or more of these unique creations if you're high bidder during our one-day-only silent auction on Wednesday, November 17.

Here's how it works. Visit www.gettysburgtimes.com and see photos of all five racks, each with a number. On November 17, call our office at (717) 334-5006 between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. and give us the rack number and your bid. The minimum opening bid on any rack is $200.

Mark your calendar and join the phone-bidding frenzy on November 17!

Uniquely Adams County

Place your bid during our silent auction on Wednesday, November 17 to win Bobbi Becker's whimsical Gettysburg Times newspaper rack, or racks created by four other local artists. See all five at www.gettysburgtimes.com.

What's new at the Imagination Station?

See what we're offering this winter and spring in the 2011 Imagination Station arts learning center schedule inserted in this newsletter. And fall classes are still available; check offerings at adamsarts.org.

Since the holidays are almost upon us, keep in mind that an IS gift certificate makes the perfect stocking stuffer.

The ACTS of Kindness Theatre Company's annual summer production of The Wizard of OZ raised more than $10,000 for the Arts Council and the York/Adams Units of the American Cancer Society.

Our sincere appreciation to directors Rene and Jessica Staub, cast, crew, and orchestra for another fantastic show. Thank you!

Jörg and Jonas Geschke

Musicians on tour

In July the Arts Council hosted Jörg and Jonas Geschke, who presented concerts and lectures throughout the area. Their tour was made possible with financial support from the German Department of Foreign Affairs and the Goethe Institute.

Jörg plays guitar and sings; son Jonas plays trombone. At home in Germany, Jörg performs at clubs and festivals, and with the Saitenbaig Trio, specialists in guitar, accordion, fiddle, and vocal folk music. He is past chairman of the Landesarbeitsgemeinschaft Folk Schleswig-Holstein, an association for modern folk music based on traditional music, and does freelance work for Deutschlandradio Kultur, a German radio station dedicated to cultural matters.

Jörg also organizes the biennial Möllner Volksfest featuring folk and world music, and is a member of the Executive Committee of the federal state council of music for Schleswig-Holstein.

The Arts Council was delighted to work with Tom Jolin, the German Department of Foreign Affairs, and the Goethe Institute in coordinating and sponsoring the Geschkes' American tour, which enriched our lives with music.

Annual Fund donors

Our heartfelt thanks to the members listed below who donated to our Annual Fund from May 16 to September 15, 2010. At any time during the year, we appreciate Annual Fund contributions which help us cover expenses that are difficult to otherwise underwrite. We hope you'll give generously to our 2010 appeal when you receive our letter later this month.

Juried exhibition awards

Juror Gerald Ross selected the oil painting In the Studio by Peter Ferguson of Carroll Valley as Best of Show at our Seventh Annual Juried Exhibition at Schmucker Art Gallery. Second prize went to Peter Smyth of Upper Darby for his oil on panel, The Stiltwalker Triptych. Littlestown's Joanne Bast's embroidery piece Three Apples took third prize.

Schmucker's Director Award was presented by Shannon Egan to Dean Bankert of Gettysburg for his Pattern Assemblage in wood. Honorable mention went to works by William Albanese, Sr., Ethlyn Lehman, Alan Paulson, Thomas Watson, and Cynthia Lenz Widmer. The People's Choice Award winner was Jessica Flax for her photograph Stagnant Reflections.

Louise Garverick, Judie Butterfield, and David Thomas are already hard at work planning the Arts Council's 2011 exhibition set for June 10 through 19, again in partnership with Schmucker Gallery and the Gettysburg Festival.

The Juried Art Exhibit offers attractive cash awards and an excellent opportunity for your work to be on display during one of Pennsylvania's most exciting new cultural festivals. Entry forms will be available the end of December on our web site or through our office. 🔗

Looking ahead

The Arts Council has established an endowment fund with the Adams County Community Foundation. Please keep this investment in the future in mind when you consider gifts through your will or living trust, securities, life insurance policies, or retirement plans. Contact Executive Director Chris Glatfelter for more information about how your gift can bring the joy of the arts to children across Adams County.

Plan to take part in these upcoming activities

First Friday IS-style

Stop by the Imagination Station at 18 Carlisle Street, Gettysburg on First Friday, December 3 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. for an IS open house. Meet some of the teachers for our upcoming semester of arts classes. (See the insert for our winter/spring schedule.)

Community concerts

On Thursday, November 4 at 7:30 p.m., the Gettysburg Community Concert Association features the Converse Trio in the Gettysburg High School Auditorium. Admission is $15 or with a season membership. Upcoming concerts include the Atlantic Brass Quintet on April 5 and the Repast Baroque Ensemble on May 3, both at 7:30 p.m. at the Gettysburg Middle School. For more information, call (717) 334-3788.

Tuba caroling

Tuba, euphonium, and baritone horn players will help Adams County celebrate the holidays at 7 p.m. Friday, December 10 on Lincoln Square with the Fifteenth Annual Gettysburg Tuba Carol Fest. Registration for players begins at 5:30 p.m. at Prince of Peace Episcopal Church, Baltimore and High Streets, followed by a 6 p.m. rehearsal.

The performance is sponsored by the Arts Council and directed by retired Biglerville and Gettysburg band director Ben Jones. Ben notes that the music for the performance is Tuba Carols, published by Ludwig and available at most music stores. In case of rain, the performance will be held at Prince of Peace. For more information, call (717) 334-7719.

Celebrate!

On New Year's Eve, drop in at the Imagination Station from 8 to 9:30 p.m. for free activities for kids ages 4 through 12. Make a funny hat, paint, and listen to stories. On Lincoln Square, enjoy a full evening of entertainment capped with a countdown to midnight fireworks.

Holidaze

The Gettysburg Festival is planning a Gingerbread House Celebration on December 3 and 4 at the Gettysburg Hotel.

The Majestic Theater will offer a host of special Yuletide performances. Visit our partners-in-arts gettysburgfestival.org and gettysburgmajestic.org to find out more.

Gilbert & Sullivan Festival returns in 2011

The International Gilbert & Sullivan Festival returns to the Majestic Theater from June 24 to July 3, 2011. The 2010 Festival, part of the Gettysburg Festival, drew an international audience to celebrate the comic operatic works of the British dynamic duo of W. S. Gilbert and Arthur Sullivan.

Gilbert & Sullivan are most recognized for their works The Pirates of Penzance, The Mikado, and H.M.S. Pinafore, plus nine other operettas.

Enthusiasts from 24 states and abroad came to Gettysburg this summer to see 10 American and one English Gilbert & Sullivan performing groups. A well-received Festival Youth Production of The Pirates of Penzance, directed by two British professionals, featured youth from five Pennsylvania counties, Tennessee, and the United Kingdom.

In 2011 the G & S Fest expects to offer more shows in the Majestic Theater, including the youth production and a Festival production where individuals can rehearse and participate locally.

Amateur groups from Wales, England, Ireland, and California have already expressed interest in performing next year. America's preeminent professional company, the New York Gilbert & Sullivan Players, will also return.

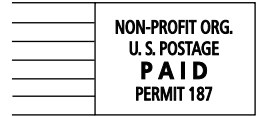

Tickets are expected to go on sale at the Majestic beginning January 2, 2011. To find out more, contact Rich Wiley at rich.wiley@gs-festival.co.uk.

Roots & Wings in our schools

Amid a worsening environment for the arts caused by standardized testing and budgets cuts, the Arts Council, teachers, and community-minded businesses continue to offer arts to our schools through our Roots & Wings program.

The Eastern European Women's Vocal Ensemble Svitanya will wrap up its visit with a public performance for Music, Gettysburg! on November 7 at 4 p.m. at the Lutheran Seminary Chapel. Funding for the multi-month artist residency came from Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, Liberty Mountain Resort, PNCBANK, York Water Company, and Peter and Gail Hull.

The National Endowment for the Arts' Shakespeare in American Communities initiative is coming to Adams County next year. The Touchstone Theater Ensemble will engage high school students at Littlestown, Biglerville, Delone, and Gettysburg with the power of live theater and the masterpieces of William Shakespeare.

Pending funding approval, we're planning school residency programs with percussionist Osubi I. Craig and his Prophecy Music

Project and the Renaissance band Piffaro. The Piffaro residency will include an instrument drive where your gently used clarinets and trumpets will end up in the hands of budding young musicians.

The School Days Series in partnership with the Majestic Theater continues on May 9 with Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing by TheatreworksUSA. Tickets for the 10 a.m. show are $8 for adults/children/students and $4 for teachers.
